Dear Chris,

On behalf of Lockheed Martin Missiles and Fire Control and the Global Supply Chain Operations team, I am pleased to congratulate BGA Test & Technology for being named one of eleven Exceptional Small Business Suppliers for 2025.

This marks the 31st year that Lockheed Martin Missiles and Fire Control honors the very best of our small-business community. Your outstanding performance, innovative solutions, and relentless dedication have earned you a place among this elite group—an achievement you should be proud of.

Our partnership with BGA Test & Technology is a cornerstone of our success. The expertise, agility, and quality you bring to the supply chain enable us to deliver world-class capabilities to our customers. We could not accomplish our mission without you.

As we celebrate this milestone, we also look forward to 2026. In an increasingly dynamic defense environment, accelerating our joint efforts will be essential to meeting program timelines, embracing new technologies, and sustaining the cost-effective excellence both our organizations value. By continuing to build on the strong foundation we've established, we can ensure that our collaboration remains swift, seamless, and mutually beneficial.

Thank you for your hard work, dedication, and the high standards you uphold. We are excited to keep the momentum going and to achieve even greater success together in the coming year.

Sincerely,
